The mission of the Nonprofit Risk Management Center is to change how leaders view, understand and respond to inevitable uncertainty. As a trusted advisor on a wide spectrum of risk topics, the Center partners with mission-focused, high-performing nonprofit organizations to make risk management accessible and impactful. The Center also develops and advocates innovative approaches to loss control and risk leadership. In addition to consulting services, the Center develops innovative cloud applications, provides in-person and virtual training, and publishes articles and books covering a spectrum of risk issues facing mission-driven organizations. These resources are offered to inspire the confidence needed to take the risks that bring nonprofit missions to life.

Bios

Melanie Lockwood Herman is executive director of the Nonprofit Risk Management Center, where she leads the Center's consulting practice. Melanie has spent her entire career in the nonprofit sector, has written and co-written more than 20 books on various management subjects, and is a popular speaker at conferences for nonprofit leaders. Melanie earned her B.A. degree in Urban Affairs at American University and her J.D. at the George Mason University School of Law. She is a member of the District of Columbia Bar.

Mark E. Chopko is a litigator and business lawyer in Washington, DC, and chair of Stradley Ronon's Nonprofit and Religious Institutions practice group. He also serves as an adjunct professor at Georgetown University Law Center where he teaches a seminar in church-state law. Mark earned his B.S. degree from the University of Scranton, and his J.D. from Cornell Law School. He is a member of the Bar in the District of Columbia and Pennsylvania.

Emily C. Stumhofer is a staff attorney and project manager at the Nonprofit Risk Management Center in Leesburg, VA. She earned her B.A. from Colorado College, and her J.D. from the University of Virginia School of Law. She is a member of the Virginia Bar.

Sarah Long is an attorney focused on providing low cost legal services to those who fall in the "justice gap" because they cannot afford private attorney rates and do not qualify for legal aid. Sarah spent nearly thirty years leading technical and information technology groups before becoming an attorney. She earned her Bachelor of Engineering from McGill University in Montreal and her J.D. from the University of Massachusetts School of Law. She is a member of the Massachusetts Bar.

Carrie A. Kroll is an associate in the Washington, D.C. office of Venable LLP. Carrie earned her B.A. from the University of Virginia, and her M.S in International Affairs and J.D. from American University. She is a member of the Bar in Maryland and the District of Columbia.

Erin Troy Clinton practices corporate and transactional law in Washington, DC, through Cape Counsel, PLLC. She is a graduate of Georgetown University and earned her J.D. at Washington & Lee. She previously worked in the corporate group at Stradley Ronon's DC office and at Akin Gump.
